By MELVIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)—

Discovery of shortages in the funds of two state departments has started a series of investigations which is expected to result in drastic changes in bookkeeping systems if not personnel.

First link in a chain of rapid developments came when a loss of $24,000 was discovered in the office of State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson.

The loss was found shortly after William B. Shearer, cashier, had been forced to take a vacation for the first time in 13 years. Johnson accused Shearer of a series of speculations over a period of three years.

Shortly after the treasury loss was reported it was revealed by A. E. Stockburger, finance director, that 152 $100 checks—$15,200—were missing from the records.

Officials of the board of equalization insisted the checks had been properly transmitted to the state controller's office, but the latter had no record of ever having received the checks originally sent the board as payment for liquor licenses.

Fiscal officers are confident the missing checks have never been cashed illegally, inasmuch as $9,300 has been recovered by having the makers issue duplicates, the originals never having been cleared.

As a result of the lost, strayed or stolen funds and checks, a series of investigations were instituted, the most important of which was started by District Attorney Otis D. Babcock of Sacramento county who put a certified public accountant in charge of the state treasurer's books.

In his investigation, the district attorney called attention to the possibility Shearer "may be or may have been attempting to cover up someone more guilty than himself."

In addition to inquiries by the department of finance, Controller Ray L. Riley and the board of equalization, an independent investigation was to be made by a special legislative committee on audits headed by Assemblyman Leon M. Donihue of Oakland.

Governor Frank F. Merriam was enroute back to his Sacramento office after an absence of more than two weeks, the longest period he has been away from his headquarters since election. During that time the governor was in Southern California and went to St. Louis Mo., to attend the national American Legion convention.

SCHOOL PWA PROJECT ASSURED

Grant of $14,727 Is Expected
From Government. Bonds
For $22,000 As Yet Un-
sold.

The hopes of those interested in obtaining a new grammar school for Truckee were revived this week with the announcement that the PWA project for the school which was submitted and was turned down in September has been approved subject to the final approval of Comptroller General McCarl. He will determine if the projects comply with the $4,880,000,000 works appropriation law.

In the list of projects and allotments the Truckee Grammar School is allowed $14,727, which is considerably more than was anticipated.

The proposal to build a new grammar school has not been progressing as smoothly as expected and it is doubtful if the new building will be ready before next fall. As yet no bids have been received for the $22,000 worth of bonds which were voted in July by the school district. Now that the PWA project is practically assured, some way will no doubt be worked out by the trustees for the disposal of the $22,000 bonds.

PASSION PLAY TO BE PRESENTED AT RENO

The great European Passion Play in English will be presented at the Granada Theatre in Reno this afternoon and tonight under the auspices of the Ministerial Association of Reno and vicinity.

The Players through years of experience, careful training for the respective parts they portray, are devoting their entire self to their roles. Originally presented only in the German language, The Passion Play from Freiburg, Germany, which antedates the one of Oberammergau, Bavaria by 635 years, was brought to the United States by the city of St. Joseph, Mo. During the first week more than 107,000 people witnessed its presentation.

For the first time in the history of the European Passion Plays, the text is now written and spoken in the English language. Gradually, Americans were selected to study and speak the parts of the German players and Americans have succeeded in the German players in the parts. Now the great European Passion Play has become an all-American institution.

Taking for its basic foundation the old script of Freiburg of 1264 and the Oberammergau script of 1634, the author has given the world a text of the Passion of Our Lord which in its entirety through twenty scenes re-enact the life and sufferings during the last seven days of Christ on earth, a three hour presentation.

MODERN VERSION OF ROSE MARIE BEING FILMED

First Major Musical Play To Be Filmed Entirely Out of Doors. Indians In Full Regalia Lend Atmosphere. Various points in Lake Tahoe Region Used For Scenes.

Piute and Washoe Indians who lend atmosphere to the motion picture "Rose Marie" now being filmed by MGM, at Lake Tahoe, had the opportunity recently to demonstrate their seamanship in canoes.

Decked out in all the regalia of their forefathers, braves and squaws manipulated about one hundred canoes near Carnelian bay while cameras ground out yards and yards of film. Under the blankets of the canoes paddlers, life preservers, something that the braves of ancient days never heard of, were securely fastened to each boatman. The life preservers were carefully covered by the blankets, however.

The motion picture version of "Rose Marie" will be slightly more modern in general trend than the original version of the famous operetta by Rudolph Friml.

The picture is the first major musical play to be filmed entirely out of doors. Scenes at various points in the Tahoe region are being used, including the main location at Carnelian Bay, others at Tahoe City, Emerald Bay, Cascade Lake and the Five Lakes in the Rubicon vicinity.

The synopsis of the play show Jeanette McDonald, as Rose Marie, the French Canadian opera singer, and her brother, who is a small Canadian trading post town of Quebec. This movie village has been set up at Carnelian Bay during the past six weeks, and here the principal scenes, requiring village crowds, fur traders of the North Woods, and many Indians were taken.

In the play the brother of Rose Marie (under an assumed name for his sister's protection) is in prison, and the opera star endeavors to aid him in escaping. However, a note is slipped to her in one of the scenes by a half breed, the role played by George Regas, which informs her that her brother has escaped after the killing of a prison guard, and is hidden at the home of the half breed's mother, a cabin far back among the northern wilds.

The scene in which the star attempts to visit the hide out of her fugitive brother is to be filmed among the rugged peaks surrounding the Five Lakes. Here, while struggling through a rushing stream on horse back, Rose Marie and her half breed look back to see the mounted police about to overtake them. In sudden panic the half breed forsakes the girl and runs for cover, while she, a very poor horse woman, finds herself in grave danger of being drowned. At this point Nelson Eddy, in the role of the invincible head of the guards, rides to the rescue and saves the opera singer from drowning. Throughout the entire play the many beautiful Sierran scenes, depicting in the play the Canadian wilds, are enlivened by the singing voices of the two stars.

TRUCKEE PROJECT HELD UP AGAIN

Insertion of a paragraph in the proposed Truckee River agreement has again held up the start of work on the proposed upstream storage dams.

A. L. Haight, attorney representing the Truckee Carson Irrigation District, takes the position that the paragraph the Sierra Pacific Power Company would insert in the agreement is not agreeable to his clients. The paragraph has to do with adjudication of Truckee River water rights.

Haight objects to the use of the word "otherwise" at the end of a paragraph which reads:

The foregoing adjudications set forth in claims Nos. 1 to 744, inclusive, of this decree are based upon conditions existing at or prior to the entry of said temporary restraining order herein on February 13, 1936, and such adjudications shall not be deemed to limit or otherwise affect any rights acquired or created subsequently thereto by conveyance, transfer, contract (including said Truckee River agreement) or otherwise.

E. R. Albee Truck Sideswiped Near Derby

Earl Nine, Reno contractor, was killed instantly on Monday night in a collision with a cattle truck driven by E. R. Albee, owner of the Truckee Meat Market, at Derby, thirty miles east of Reno. Nine's car after sideswiping the Albee truck plunged down the highway to collide head-on with a huge transport freight truck. The freight truck and Nine's car caught fire and the fire department were called to put out the blaze.

HUNTERS FIND END OF THE TRAIL

One of the largest bucks that roam the mountains was nearly killed on Tuesday when two of our local hunters after days of trailing finally cornered him.

It seems that M. T. McCallum stationed himself at the right spot while Gene Bowser doing the bounding act ground the deer within 10 feet of Mac and his trusty rifle. Then the shooting started, Mac shot three times and fell down and arising found the deer ready to shake hands. After a close examination he found there was no sight on his rifle. The rifle is now for sale to the highest bidder.

Over Heated Stove Causes Fire In Guidi Home

The fire siren was sounded on Monday morning about 7:30 and the Volunteer Fire Department responded to a fire in the home of G. Guidi on East River Street. An overheated stove caused the woodwork to catch fire. The fire was quickly extinguished and the damage was nominal.

ELECTRIC STORM CUTS OFF POWER

Forestry Service Reports Fires Started By Lightning Bolts. Heavy Rain Accompanying Storm.

A severe electrical storm hit this vicinity on Monday evening accompanied by a heavy rainfall. When a lightning bolt hit a transformer of the Sierra Pacific Power Company near Polaris, the town was plunged into darkness. Light service was disrupted for about forty minutes. Reno and vicinity were without power for six hours until the damage was repaired.

It was stated that the lightning made a direct hit, striking the two insulators and thereby snapping two of the wires of the three-phase transmission line. The steel pins of the insulators are tied together on each pole by wire to prevent radio interference. The insulators were not knocked off the poles, but were badly cracked and fell to pieces when a workman touched them. One of the wires was burned in two at the insulator. It took only a few minutes to repair the damage after it was discovered, but it required an inspection of hundreds of poles along the line by crews to discover the break. As none of the Truckee river power plants are operating at this time because of lack of water, the Sierra Pacific Power Co. are entirely dependent on the Lake Spaulding plant for its power to supply Reno and vicinity.

The forestry service reported that two bolts of lightning started fires, one on a hillside near Boca and the other near the airways beacon north of the summit. Both blazes were extinguished before damage resulted. On Tuesday afternoon rain again started to fall and during the night another storm started with a very heavy rainfall. No damage was reported.

While heavy rain accompanied both storms, Truckee only received nine-hundredths of an inch of precipitation and it was not expected that the average for the entire Truckee-Tahoe district would greatly exceed this figure. Temperatures were relatively warm and there were no snow flurries.

George A. Campbell, manager of the Sierra Pacific Power Co. indicated that the power failure of Monday night which was complete in communities east of Truckee would tend to speed up the negotiations which have been blocking the start of the upstream storage reservoir.

BAER-LOUIS FIGHT GETS BIG GATE

California editors look upon the Baer-Louis fight with its million-dollar gate as an example of everything from the return of prosperity to the toll taken by the "primrose path."

In connection with the latter premise, The Hanford Daily Sentinel pointed out that the defeat of Max Baer "is another proof of the impossibility of a 'play boy' enduring the demands of the squared circle. Nearly two years of the primrose life robbed Baer of his heft, hoof and skill."

The financial success of the fight may indicate the definite return of prosperity, in the opinion of the San Francisco News which said:

"It meant prosperity — for 24 hours—in New York."

"Perhaps it has a larger significance which time may reveal, in the past wherever people got money they went to New York to spend it. New York has been a barometer. All summer there has been talk of recovery—dubious, hesitant talk, but persistent. This fight spectacle may be part of that ground swell, concentrating into one shouting chorus all the timid voices we've been hearing since last winter."

The Santa Ana Register, however does not quite agree with this opinion, pointing out that "we would naturally conclude from the fight receipts that prosperity is here again in full force if we didn't know that large receipts for such spectacles are no criterion to judge the financial condition of the people. Many will spend their last dime to see a prize fight, without thought of the future."

"The same fight," commented the Marysville Appeal-Democrat, "would not have drawn a million dollar gate three years ago, or even one year ago. It may be a foolish way to spend money, but the fact it was spent indicates the public again has the ability to pay for the thing it wants."

Taking somewhat the same line of argument, The Santa Barbara Daily News believes that inasmuch as a mere handful of the nation's population can spend a million dollars for a few minutes entertainment, "there shouldn't be such alarm, such concern and such open opposition to a sincerely guided president who is distributing a few other millions to put food in hungry stomachs and win a battle far more important."

From the standpoint of Joe Louis' victory, the Oroville Mercury Register commented:

"We all know the flaws in Max Baer and how a few hours of fame brought them out. We're thinking that Joe Louis is going to show up a lot of former champions both as a fighter and sensible man."

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

A whole nation will go "fire-conscious" Sunday, the opening day of Fire Prevention Week. Throughout California and the country, men of note will speak to huge gatherings. Civic groups, schools, churches, and various municipal organizations will hear them, and will set in motion their own plans for telling the world not to be careless with fire.

Scoffers, of course, will scoff, saying this is just another "week," and that soon we'll be having a week for the prevention of wife-beating. They probably forget that Fire Prevention is the oldest of "weeks." But more important, they forget the scorching sort of agony that rampaging fire alone can inflict, and the abject completeness with which unchecked fire alone of all man's enemies can wipe out everything he owns, including his life.

If during next week some of these scoffers, as well as some of us who only forget, feel even a flash of true "fire-consciousness," the observance will have been a success.

If only for a brief moment we can become fully aware of the tragedy of unchecked fire. A mother washing out her young husband's greasy gloves in gasoline—a blinding blast and annihilation—a hungry, roaring, raging forest fire licking out ugly red-yellow tongues at nature's cool greenness—a pandemonium of panic-stricken youngsters fleeing from a burning schoolhouse, but some too late—the stunned, lifeless expression of a man gazing upon the ashes of his home and saying, "My wife and child were in there, asleep."

This is no isolated picture trumped up for a cause. These are merely snapshots of what you would see every day if you could be everywhere at once. And the picture is there because people are careless with fire—because there are scoffers and those who only forget.

Perhaps if we think twice we shall neither scoff nor forget, and shall accept Fire Prevention Week in the spirit in which it was conceived.

Keeping Their Eye on the Ball

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)—

Without any advance warning except a long financial report by Finance Director A. E. Stockburger, deficiency talk in some quarters suddenly has turned away from consideration of a special legislative session this winter.

Stockburger's report claimed the 1935-37 budget was balanced, except for certain items beyond the control of the present governor. Those items, in the opinion of Controller Ray L. Riley, will boost the state's general fund deficit to $80,000,000 by the end of this biennium.

First indication that Gov. Frank F. Merriam probably would not call a special legislative session appeared in a Los Angeles newspaper, which said the governor, just before leaving for St. Louis, stated he would not call a session "unless there are unforeseen developments of an unusually serious nature."

Merriam, the article said, spoke of the budget being balanced.

This came as a surprise to capitol officials who had been attempting to determine how new revenue could be raised to meet an expected deficit of $80,000,000.

They were upset particularly because of a new drive against the state income tax and the presence of a qualified initiative against the sales tax which will appear on the 1936 general election ballot. Repeal of the sales tax would deprive the state of $100,000,000 biennially, thus raising the deficit to some $200,000,000 or more by July 1, 1939, unless substitute revenue measures were devised.

Riley sprung the next surprise when he spoke to county assessors holding their state convention in Fresno. He, also, expressed doubt that there would be a special legislative session in January, and predicted that inflated currency would be the inevitable result of deficits and increased expenditures.

"Some day, all these debts will be paid with a 'dime dollar,'" he said.

Continued demands for unemployment relief and eventual establishment of a permanent agency to administer aid will be a constant factor to be considered in financial problems of state and local governments, he believed.

Debts will be carried "on the cuff" until someone devises an effective method of meeting them, Riley predicted.

Merriam assumed a different attitude, according to the Los Angeles article which quoted him as saying: "I have made no arrangements for calling a special session and at present I know of no reason for making such a step. From now on the effect of California's pay-as-you-go policy will be more and more apparent. Our budget is balanced and our credit is in an enviable position."

After some years of what now appears to outsiders as a haphazard or at any rate careless method of handling public funds, state officials have discovered nearly $40,000 missing. All of it is covered by bonds or re-issued checks, but two developments in a week caused a forgo in official ranks.

When it was disclosed that 152 $100 checks became lost somewhere between the board of equalization and the controller's office claimed the credit for discovering that the checks were missing. Neither could say, however, what had happened to them, but there was nothing to indicate they had been stolen because none of the checks had been cashed.

It all turned into a game of "button, button—who's got the button," with the checks taking the place of buttons.

After the proverbial horse had been stolen, the department of finance closed the barn door by announcing a close audit would be made of all state agencies accountable for public funds.

Governor Merriam's frequently announced stand against communism, which he has expressed on numerous occasions for more than a year, was spread nationally when he spoke before the American Legion convention in St. Louis. No reports had trickled back here concerning the impression Merriam made on the service men during the visit arranged with the idea of feeling pulses and determining the direction of national political winds.

Gasoline and Liquor Continue Gains

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)— Steady gains indicative of returning confidence and improved conditions were continued last month in gasoline and liquor sales in California, the state board of equalization reported today.

Gasoline taxes in August amounted to $3,826,965, a gain of $445,524, or 13 per cent, over the total figure for August a year ago. Taxes on beer and wine totaled $192,229, a gain of $32,710, or 20 per cent, over the amount collected in August, 1934.

"Contrasted with the phenomenal gain of 43 per cent for July, the increase in last month's gasoline tax returns might seem indicative of a decline in revenue," said Orin Jean Shontz, Los Angeles member of the board. "Investigation has shown, however, that the record total of $4,351,472 reported for July was due to the huge amount of gasoline suddenly put upon the market following the supreme court's decision invalidating regulatory codes."

Gains in the sale of gasoline during the summer months this year were heavy in comparison with sales last year. Miss Shontz predicted the total revenue from this source would exceed $41,000,000 for the year, thus marking an increase of more than $1,000,000 over 1934.

Part of the increase in the beverage tax was traced to a new legislative act which made champagne and other sparkling wines subject to a heavier tax than other light beverages. Sparkling wines now are taxed at three cents per pint, as contrasted with the two cents a gallon tax on other wines and beer.

During the month of August, sale of 44,874 pints of sparkling wine yielded the state $17,094. In July, only 38,418 pints were sold. Total gallonage of other wines taxed was 1,499,629, compared with 1,362,074 in July.

"Tax figures have demonstrated conclusively that there is an overwhelming preference in California for still wines produced here," Fred E. Stewart, board member, said. "California sparkling wine also competes successfully with foreign vintages."

Californians consumed 8,044,521 gallons of beer in August, or one and one-third gallons for every man, woman and child in the state.

Transient Relief Camps Abolished By Nov. 1

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)— Abolishment of transient relief camps in favor of Works Progress Administration projects may have the effect of increasing the migration of unemployed, relief authorities feared.

Transient camps were closed to newcomers recently, and may be shut down completely by November 1, when they will be converted into works-relief camps. Former habitués of the camps are being told to return to their home states where they may be certified for work on government projects. Unemployables and physically unfit will be given transportation by the federal government, and will become the problem of local agencies when they return to their homes.

Instead of being given food, clothing, shelter and $1 a week on relief, transients will be put to work at a subsistence wage.

Prospect of having to go to work has already caused many transients to clear out of the camps, relief directors said. Hitch-hikers are becoming more evident on the highways. They are, in fact, making such a comeback in their roaming habits that state highway authorities are wondering what to do about the situation.

E. Raymond Cato, chief of the high way patrol, regards hitch-hikers as "a primary hazard." Ray Ingals, director of the department of motor vehicles, regards the situation as serious but doubts whether it would be practical to legislate against it.

Authorities throughout the West are warning motorists to ignore the pleas of hitch-hikers for rides. Many of the nomads have criminal records and may be dangerous characters.

The restless wandering of former transient camp inmates will be more noticeable this fall, authorities believed, because some 300,000 persons have been accommodated in the camps during the past year. Many of these will hit the road again and continue moving aimlessly, no longer able to drop off and spend a day or week at a relief shelter.

Starts Barber Shop On Empty Box; 30 Days

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)— Lack of a state license, a shop, chairs and other equipment failed to discourage Gus Jervas in his desire to start a barber business. He used an empty fruit box for a chair, and was doing a rushing business in his open air shop, under a bridge which spans the Sacramento river, when a state barber inspector descended upon him.

Jervas, who had hardly gotten started on his project of trimming hair with a battered old scissors for 10 cents a head, was sent to jail for 30 days and given six months on probation.

Pensions, Not Savings Needed, Downey Says

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 &(UP)— Pensions, rather than savings, are needed to assure the future welfare of people in this country, in the opinion of Sheridan Downey, who ran a close second in the lieutenant governorship race last year.

The savings system was advisable, Downey believed, while the nation was being built, but "now, with facilities complete to produce more goods than are needed, the pension plan is preferred as a means of assuring contentment in the later years of life."

Downey frequently speaks on Townsend programs.

REAL ESTATE VALUES OF STATE INCREASE

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)—Evidence of the upswing in real estate business and values was shown in answer to a questionnaire the California Building and Loan league mailed 185 member associations.

Shortage of homes, scarcity of good rental properties, a distinct gain in new construction loans, rising prices and rents and increased inquiries from prospective home owners were outlined in the answers.

During the first six months of this year, $7,000,000 was loaned by associations replying to the questionnaire.

Factory Employment Of State Shows Increase

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)—California's manufacturing industry reported further gains in employment, payrolls and average weekly earnings during the last month, according to the state department of industrial relations.

A check of 1,011 representative firms revealed a total of 162,123 employees last month as compared with 160,989 a year ago, a gain of .7 per cent.

"During the same period, however, the volume of payrolls for these identical establishments rose from $3,585,444 to $3,957,191, an increase of $371,747, or 10.4 per cent, a department report stated.

"Average weekly earnings rose during the same period from $27.27 to $24.41, an increase of $2.14 or 9.6 per cent."

The report further pointed out that the exclusion of canning operations from the statistics would make the employment increase 4.4 per cent. Textiles showed the greatest gain with an increase in employment of 27.7 per cent, while wood manufacturing was next with a gain of 17.9 per cent.

Seed Potato Industry Of California Growing

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)—Seed potatoes are increasing steadily in importance as an important California crop according to the state department of agriculture which reported an increase of 100 per cent this year as compared with 1934 plantings.

Total acreage this year is 362, compared with 166 acres in 1934 and 83 acres in 1933.

The largest increase in any one certified seed potato producing district was registered in the Tuile Lake section, Siskiyou county. Other important districts are located in Santa Barbara, Sonoma, Marin, Shasta and Humboldt counties.

State Employees Grumble No Pay Increases Received

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)—Some 500 state employees are grumbling because their pay increases have not been approved by Finance Director A. E. Stockburger.

Wholesale salary cuts have been put into effect in line with legislation, but scheduled increases have been given no attention. They were forthcoming for employees who were reclassified by the state personnel board into higher salary brackets, or who have received less than one the minimum pay set for the positions they hold.

Salary adjustments were recommended because pay ranged below or above limits established by civil service regulations. The late Gov. James Rolph, Jr., issued a "no salary increase" order and Governor Merriam continued it although he is in favor of a readjustment.

California Second In Gasoline Consumed In 1934

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)—With a consumption of 1,198,650,000 gallons of gasoline in California during 1934, the state was second only to New York in the amount of fuel used by motor vehicles.

According to federal reports received by the state department of public works, the gasoline used throughout the United States during the year amounted to 15,545,481,000 gallons.

The report further revealed that New York collected the largest gasoline tax revenue, amounting to $43,927,000. Other states' returns included Ohio, $37,618; California $35,960,000; Pennsylvania, $33,409,000; Texas, $31,640,000, and Illinois $29,126,000.

Unemployment Relief Of State Shows Decline

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)—Unemployment relief rolls in California declined 139,716 during the seven months ended August 1, according to a report of the State Emergency Relief Administration.

During the month of July, 725,085 persons were on relief. In January, when the peak was reached, there were 864,801 on the rolls. The decrease began in February and continued gradually each month July.

Seasonal occupations in orchards and harvest fields were believed to have had a marked effect upon the relief situation.

TAHOE REGION NEWS

By Swanee

We forgot to mention last week the results of the Lake Tahoe Sierra Assn. Annual golf tournament played on the Tavern Links Sunday Sept. 21st, 18 players participating. Gene Rogers, local boy, who carried away the honors last year, tied for first place this year with Jack Gary of Sacramento, both making a low gross score of 148 for 18 holes. The Calcutta pool totaled $21.50 this time and Frank Gaiennie of Truckee and Al Richard divided the spoils between them. Warren Sanford of Oakland, who owns a home in Tahoe Park, came third with a score of 149 and A. B. McKenzie of Reno was right behind him with 150. Stanley Martin made a good investment of $1.00 when he bid in Sanford at the the Calcutta pool dinner at Tahoe Inn on Saturday night (which was attended by about 25 members), winning $12.50 when his man paid off. Among the "also rans" were Attorney Wade Snook of Oakland, A. L. Wilkinson, W. P. Fuller of Sacramento, R. C. Gregory of Truckee Associated Oil Co., Stanley Martin Tahoe City's S.P.P. Co. Manager, Vincent Burke, Manager of the Town House in Reno, Bob Tonini of Truckee, Major A. P. Crist (score 151) and H. F. Droste, (153) Fay Shannon of Glenbrook and Dave Chambers, suspected of being dark horses before the tournament, failed to run as anticipated. Dr. Rodolph of Tahoe Pines was also an interested spectator. The affair provided a lot of good natured fun and the balmy weather was enjoyed by all.

An interesting letter was received in my mail on Monday from a gentleman in Nevada. He declares he is ably prepared to bring quickly back to life, "any one who has drowned, fallen dead by shock from a light charge of electricity, and from fright and shock from bad news." He goes on to state that

Sowing and Reaping

WHEN a garden lover plants his garden, he confidently expects a reward of beauty from the seeds which he sows. Where he plants larkspur, he does not look for thistles, but expects to see, in due time, tall spikes of shining blue. As he carefully cultivates the seedlings, enriching the soil and keeping it free from weeds, he is expecting to reap a bountiful reward. But how differently we are apt to regard our sowing and reaping in the mental realm! Both the law and the gospel proclaim that whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap; but the world, generally speaking, interprets this law as applying to wrongdoing, forgetting that it also applies to the sure and certain reward for right doing.

We read in the book of Job (4:8): "They that plow iniquity, and sow wickedness, reap the same;" and we also read in Proverbs (11:18), "To him that soweth righteousness shall be a sure reward." Why does mankind in general believe in the justice which exacts penalty for wrongdoing, and fail to understand the justice which rewards righteousness? Fear of the penalty attached to wrongdoing does not make a man good; but the joyous recognition of God as infinite good, and the glad acceptance of the fact that obedience to God brings a sure reward, help one to obey God, not because of the reward, but because such obedience brings one nearer to God, the source of all good, and results in an improved sense of health, happiness, and harmony.

The Apostle Paul tells us that "the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance;" and he adds, "Against such there is no law" (Gal. 5:22, 23). We may sometimes seem to toil laboriously to cultivate "the fruit of the Spirit," but we need to remember that nothing can hinder its growth, and that nothing can withstand its power, for it destroys hate and envy, intolerance, hurry, haste, and waste.

Sometimes a wrong mental attitude of self-depreciation or self-condemnation would hinder us from claiming the divine law of reaping where we have sown. Self-condemnation would tempt us to think of our mistakes and failures, and to forget the efforts we have made to advance towards good. A false sense of self would blight "the fruit of the Spirit," so that we droop with discouragement, instead of shining with confidence and courage, peace and serenity, which are the sure fruitage of trust in infinite good. If the Apostle Paul had spent his misdirected efforts in persecuting the Christians, he would never have accomplished what he did. He knew that his ministry, in Christ, was far bigger and greater than any personal sense of triumph or failure; and he said (Phil. 3:13, 14), "Forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

There is a sure reward for right thinking and acting, but often, through a misunderstanding of the nature of God as divine Principle, the reward is not claimed. We are apt to think of law and justice as relating to penalty, forgetting that divine law is both wise and loving, relating only to good. The teachings of Christian Science reveal God as Principle, undeviating, changeless Principle, Love; and as this idea dawns upon our thought we begin to understand the law which governs right thinking and acting.

In "Miscellaneous Writings" (p. 331) Mary Baker Eddy makes it clear that if we are "abiding in Truth, the warmth and sunlight of prayer and praise and understanding will ripen the fruits of Spirit, and goodness will have its springtime of freedom and greatness." Freedom and greatness belong to goodness; they are the natural results of the activity of good. When we break the bonds of sinful thinking, we must expect freedom, because obedience to divine law brings freedom. We need the "warmth and sunlight of prayer and praise and understanding." As we watch and pray, and give thanks to divine Love for the good which we already possess, and as we endeavor, each day, to gain more understanding of God, the source of all good, we shall understand the divine law of sowing and reaping—and expect it to operate in our experience. . . .—The Christian Science Monitor.

ported struck and felled by lightning but no damage has been discovered as yet.

Electricity on Monday was suddenly cut off during the storm early in the evening, remaining off for an hour or so. All hands were ordered to the Truckee area where the seat of the disturbance was believed to be.

While town folks are not bothered by the advent of winter weather which is always anticipated at this time of the year, not so resigned are Metro, Goldwyn, Mayer now in our midst and right in the middle of the filming of "Rose Marie." Principle activity is at Emerald Bay at Lone Pine Pt. where admission can be had only by pass. Scenes are also in the course of being taken at Cascade Lake and in the Five Lakes region. Close to 600 Indians, representing 17 different tribes have been imported to Tahoe for this stupendous picture, their waxes, dances, pow-wows, native customs and dress all being depicted in the film. Never has such an array of Indians been collected at any one time for any previous picture. It is reported that the filming of the entire picture will cost considerably past the $100,000 mark, a goodly percentage being acquired by local men employed in various manners with the company. This brand of weather will necessarily curtail picture taking and no doubt cost the producers a lot of extra money while marking time waiting for the storm to clear. An official of the company was heard to remark recently that neither he, nor his colleagues, ever realized the rare beauty and exceptional settings, with elaborate cloud effects, this vicinity offers for screen photography. Let's hope they advertise it far and wide, aplenty.

Tahoe's new school building is fast being rushed to completion and a wonderful fulfillment it is to be of the dream long cherished by local residents and mothers and dads of children of school age. We'd call it a dream come true, almost too good to believe.

Mr. Kaeding the contractor, has had a full crew working for the past two weeks, and it is hoped within two days or two weeks the new building will have been completed and ready for classes. Plumbing fixtures have been installed, floors laid and sanded, ready for filler and oil, most of the cabinetry work is finished, windows in, all staining done outside, inside now in the process of staining, or oiling, and the lighting fixtures going in this week. With the building actually done and ready for occupancy, unalloyed delight and pride is being voiced on all sides by the town-folks. It is indeed an addition to the region both pleasing to the eye and a real enhancement to property values. And while we are on the subject, a few words of sincere appreciation and praise should be offered the Tahoe school board who have given generously of their time, effort, perseverance and abilities to make the new edifice an enduring model of modern comfort and practical efficiency. Especially is a word of commendation due Mrs. Northle Pomin, conscientious and able clerk of the local board, who personally engineered the sale of the school bonds, thereby enabling the dream of our modern school house to become a reality.

Standard Oil Co. of Reno and local surrounding territory held its annual sales banquet at Tahoe Inn on Monday night. Twenty-five members attended with Mr. Fairchild of Reno master of ceremonies and speaker of the evening. The tables were artistically adorned with vases of lavender and pink flowers, grown in Tahoe gardens.

Mrs. Henry Wehrman and son Milton Jacobs have returned again to Tahoe following a vacation trip to Tuolumne county.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Hughes of Tahoe Tavern who have been guests at Tahoe Inn since the closing of the Tavern have left for San Francisco.

Mrs. Mabel Oliver and two children Anna Rae and Walter, returned on Sunday from a visit in the bay cities of a week.

Mrs. N. R. Mayfield who underwent an operation last week in Stanford Lane Hospital, San Francisco, is reported doing nicely and able to be up a little this week. She may be able to return to her Tahoe City home by the end of the week.

HOBART MILLS

One of the heaviest electric storms experienced here for some time visited this section about dark on Monday evening, and the lightning struck all around us. With the first heavy bolt of lightning the lights went out and put the town in darkness for a short time. Chester Elliott, the electrical engineer for the Hobart Estate Company, demonstrated the flexibility of the local power plant, by cutting in steam engines and supplying our town with electricity within a very few minutes, after a phone call to the Sierra Power Company revealed that the current might be off for some time. The Sierra Power Company resumed service after a lapse of about fifty minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. John Casbohm were Sacramento visitors over the week-end, where they visited friends.

"What is the chaff to the wheat? saith the Lord." These words from Jeremiah comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, October 6, 1935, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson Sermon will be "Unreality." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "The field is the world; the good seed are the children of the kingdom; but the tares are the children of the wicked one; As therefore the tares are gathered and burned in the fire; so shall it be in the end of this world. Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear" (Matt. 13:38,40,43).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "The seed of Truth and the seed of error, of belief and of understanding,—yes, the seed of Spirit and the seed of matter,—are the wheat and tares which time will separate, the one to be burned, the other to be garnered into heavenly places" (p. 535).

Origin and Meaning
Of Names of Counties

The story of how California counties derived their names is an interesting part of the history of the Golden State. Believing that the thousands of tourists who annually motor over the state's great highway system would like to know how the counties they visit came by their names, Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly, at the request of Governor, Frank F. Merriam has had prepared from state records a series of brief stories of the origin and meaning of the names of the counties of California including a few salient facts about each county. Following is the seventh installment of series. Editor.

Kings County—Created March 22, 1893. This county was created out of the western part of Tulare county, and took its name from Kings river, which, according to history and tradition, was discovered in 1805 by an exploring expedition and named Rio de las Santos Reyes (the "river of the holy kings"), from which it obtained its present name.

In the lower center of the great San Joaquin valley lies one of the smallest, one of the youngest, but one of the richest and most resourceful counties of the state. Kings county is known as "The Little Kingdom of Kings" because of the wealth and diversification of the products of this area. In 1852 there were only 100 settlers in the region now known as Kings and Tulare counties, and this area was a part of Mariposa county. In 1852 Tulare was formed, but it was not until 1893 that Kings came into existence by divorcing itself from Tulare. In 1908 about 100 square miles were taken from Fresno county and added to Kings.

Tulare Lake at one time covering thousands of acres, a paradise for game and waterfowl, gradually has been drying up and as early as 1881 settlers began to take up land in the lake bed. After years of tremendous reclamation work, practically the entire lake bed now is under cultivation, producing abundant crops of wheat, barley, corn, alfalfa and cotton. Peaches are the most important of a large variety of fruit crops. Poultry is a rapidly growing industry and Kings ranks second in butter manufacturing in California. Kings has one of the greatest oil fields in the world. Kettleman Hills being mostly within its territory. The assessed valuation of Kings has nearly doubled since 1928. Population: 25,285. Area: 1159 square miles.

Lake County—Created May 20, 1861. This county derived its name because of the many charming lakes within its borders.

This county presents enchanting scenery, offers opportunities in all lines of agricultural endeavor, proximity to the leading markets, is known as a land of highways and is one of the leading playgrounds in Northern California.

The high mountains surrounding the county probably acted as a barrier to the white man until the early forties, at which time a few Russians came from Fort Ross and Bodega, in what now is known as Sonoma county, to establish parts of this region for their czar. General Vallejo and his brother claimed title to a large grant of land in 1847. Soon a few other white pioneers settled and raised thousands of head of cattle, undisturbed by the 6,000 peaceful Indians who called this land home. However, the influx of people began to crowd the docile Indians and a few endeavored to establish rule over them, finally leading to much bloodshed.

Indian folklore and early California history do not reveal when this region experienced a gigantic volcanic upheaval. There are high mountains and peaks, numerous streams, scores of mineral springs, a dozen valleys and the largest lake of fresh water in the state. There are more mineral springs in Lake than in the countries of Europe, visited annually by 75,000 persons. Clear Lake, the Indian name for which is "Lupoyama," is one of the prettiest bodies of water in the world and covers an area of 84 square miles. Mount Konociti, known locally as "Uncle Sam," rises to a height of 3000 feet and almost divides the lake. Hunting and fishing lure the sportsman.

Lake has famous quicksilver mines which have yielded more than $4,000,000. Lake's leading crops in order of their importance are pears, walnuts, hay, grapes, barley and wheat. Live stock and lumber industries are prosperous. Population: 7,166. Area: 1238 square miles.

Lassen County—Created April 1, 1864. The name of this county was taken from Mount Lassen, the only active volcanic peak in the United States, which was named for Peter Lassen, a native of Switzerland, one of General Fremont's guides and a famous trapper, frontiersman and Indian fighter, who was killed by the Indians at the base of this mountain in 1859.

This county has an unusual history. Barely over the stage of pioneering compared with other counties, rail lines and highways now serve various districts, the lumbering industry is one of the greatest of its kind in the west, cattle and sheep raising are very important and Lassen is a popular vacation land. The minimum elevation of the county is 3949 feet.

Peter Lassen, rugged adventurer, Isaac Roop, first territorial governor of Nevada, and lieutenant—John C. Fremont, youthful army officer were the early pioneers. Lassen crossed the plains from Missouri in 1839 en route to Oregon. In 1844 he settled on his grant on Deer Creek. Three years later he brought another party out from Missouri and settled in Indian Valley, Plumas county. In 1855 he went to Honey Lake Valley where he lived until he was killed by Indians in 1859. Historic Lassen records relate:

"Believing themselves to be out of California, the settlers of Honey Lake Valley fought off Plumas county officials who claimed jurisdiction over them. As a consequence Honey Lake Valley became a sort of 'No Man's Land', harassed by savages on all sides and infested by outlaws. In 1856 the settlers, in the belief they were in western Utah, organized a territory about the size of Nevada and called it 'Nataqua.' Peter Lassen was elected surveyor and Isaac Roop recorder. Later the settlers joined those of the Carson Valley country in their efforts to organize a territory and call it Nevada. The government was slow in acting and they organized a provisional territorial government and elected a legislature and a full set of officials. Roop was named governor. Before long, however, the government organized the territory and in 1861 James W. Nye was appointed governor. Honey Lake Valley was put into Lake county, Nevada. After repeated clashes with Plumas county officials, a joint survey was made by California and Nevada and Honey Lake was found to be in Plumas county. The people of the valley asked to be set off into a new county and in 1864 the California legislature granted their request. The new county was named Lassen." Population: 12,589. Area: 1531 square miles.

AUTO DEATH RATE
CONTINUES HIGH

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)—Use of the "big stick" by California highway patrolmen and courts is the only solution of the increasing problem of motor vehicle fatalities.

Failure of educational campaigns, safety weeks and courtesy programs to curb the increasing highway death rate left only one recourse—a tightening up on speeders, reckless drivers and drunken operators.

While state officials admit it still is too early to predict the outcome of the campaign looking toward more strict enforcement of traffic laws, the result has been a definite trend in the right direction.

In June, for instance, an all-time record was set for traffic convictions, with the number more than double those of a year previous. And for the first time in many years, the death curve has turned downward.

"It is early to say definitely that the drop in deaths, the first decrease in many years, is due to a tightening up on law enforcement," said E. Raymond Cato, chief of the California highway patrol.

"We do know, however, that the decrease in deaths, coming as it did right at the peak of traffic when fatalities generally are the greatest, occurred simultaneously with a tremendous increase in the number of court cases and convictions."

In July, a total of 24,593 cases involving traffic violations were brought before judges. This compares with only a few over 9,000 in July 1934, state records revealed.

Of the total number of charges during the month, 23,618 resulted in convictions.

For the year up to August 1, there had been 36 fewer traffic deaths than for the comparable period last year.

Hearing For Control Of
Olive Crop, October 4

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)—A hearing looking toward a proposed market agreement and license controlling the olive crop of 22 California counties will be held in Berkeley October 4, according to A. A. Brock state director of agriculture.

The agreement has been requested by representatives of the California olive industry, officials said. It is identical with the proposed federal AAA marketing agreement and license and would be administered by the same control board, but would apply only to the handling and movement of olives within the state.

All phases of the olive industry, including producing, packing, processing, distributing and marketing, are affected by the proposed agreement.

Back To Farm Means
Long Hours of Work

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)—Don't take part in a back-to-the-farm movement unless you're prepared for hard work.

This seems to be the gist of reports compiled by the state veterans' welfare board following a survey of the 428 veterans who purchased farms by means of state aid.

Returns so far compiled show that veterans who operate farms work at least 60 hours a week and 12 months out of the year," Chairman Thomas M. Foley said.

Sales Tax Collections
Cause Trouble In Reno

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3, —(UP)—Rumblings of discontent among Reno, Nevada, merchants over California's attempts to collect the 3 per cent sales tax on articles sold for delivery in this state has prompted an investigation by the state board of equalization.

While board members have had no direct word of trouble with the Reno merchants, E. H. Walker manager of the Reno chamber of commerce, has sent the board a letter asking if agents have been authorized to solicit for the collection of taxes in Nevada.

The difficulty apparently has arisen through the sale by Reno merchants of articles for use in the Lake Tahoe region.

Industrial Payrolls Of State Show Gain

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)—Industrial payrolls in California increased 10.4 per cent during the last year, according to figures revealed by Edward L. Nolan, state labor commissioner.

The 10.4 per cent gain in manufacturing establishments was recorded in the 12 month period ended August 1, and represented an increase of nearly $400,000 in the amount of money received by employees.

Men 35 to 39 Most
Fortunate in Getting Jobs

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3 —(UP)—Men between the ages of 35 and 39 either are gifted or just happen to be lucky when it comes to getting jobs.

A majority of men placed by the state and national employment services are within that age range. No one seems to know why, because employment officers attempt to make no discrimination. But records have revealed that in California the period between 35 and 39 is the golden bracket for unemployed men who desire work.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen joined the commission in fighting the final injunction by a three-man federal court, claiming weather conditions on the route necessitated two cabooses.

From five birds, 2500 have propagated in state game farms. At Yountville, 463 of the Asiatic birds—some what of an innovation in the United States—were set free, leaving 916, and at Chino 366 were allowed to fly away, with 897 remaining.

The Chukors thrive best in the brush country. They are easily recognizable by brown and white feathers, and in maturity weigh about 1 1/2 pounds. Hens lay an average of 65 eggs in a lifetime, though one in confinement established a record of 118.
